

Physician

Specialties:

Hematology

Medical Oncology

Board Certifications:

Internal Medicine

Medical Oncology

Texas Oncology-Harlingen

2121 Pease St., Suite 101

Harlingen, TX 78550

T: 956-425-8845

Metro Area: South Texas

Spoken Language:

English

Education

Medical degree in 1989 from San Carlos University in Guatemala; internship in internal medicine at Michael Reese Hospital & Medical Center, Chicago, Illinois; internal medicine residency and medical oncology fellowship at East Tennessee State University, Johnson City, Tennessee in 1999; fellowship in bone marrow transplantation at the University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida in 2000.

Research Interest

Marco A. Araneda, M.D., has special interests in breast cancer, hematologic malignancies, and molecular targeted therapy. Dedicated to the continued enrichment of his community, Dr. Araneda provides a question-and-answer health column for a community publication and is a clinical instructor at the Regional Academic Health Center – a lower Rio Grande Valley extension campus of the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Accolades & Memberships

American Society of Clinical Oncology and the American Society of Hematology.