Philosophy of care:

Living with a cancer diagnosis changes routines and relationships. Comprehensive cancer treatment starts with sensitivity, awareness, and a commitment to providing high quality care. With this creed in mind, along with my training in hematology and oncology, I feel confident and grateful to have the opportunity to impact such a devastating disease. I am passionate about advancing cancer care with a diligent focus on personalizing treatments and promoting research to provide my patients with the best tools necessary to live wholly and successfully with cancer.
